1 Barred Owl

Note:

An odd season - few hawks, few thrushes, nighthawks and Purple martins below normal; Jays not in as large numbers (or Robins) - warblers (even unidentified) lower than usual - but more Red-breasted Nuthatches than we have had here in our large hardwood trees in the yard. Flights of hawks, thrushes and warblers reported good elsewhere in Md. & Va. about 2-3 wks. ago, and estimated 2000 Ch. Swifts were reported going to roost in chimneys at Jail. Hospital - no good flocks here.

✓at 5:45 P.M. a large bird hit a living room picture window, hard; found an Imm. Cooper's below window, on it's back - stunned, but looking alert + well. Clara + I examined it, then I put it in large (2½ x 3½') box, with a loose cover. Quiet until we released it about 8:30 A.M. (on 10/13) - flew away in fine style.
